

Tech-flavoured pizza? How to start your digital career at Dr. Oetker

Are you a digital talent and do you love new challenges? 🚀 Then become a driving force of digital transformation at Dr. Oetker. With your tech expertise, you can drive the further development of our sales channels (e-commerce), the expansion of digital business models or the harmonization and optimization of our processes and systems.

In our live stream, Fiona, Josy and Sebastian will show you what lies behind IT at Dr. Oetker and what projects our colleagues are working on there. Sebastian and Josy will give you an insight into our international trainee program and Fiona will introduce you to the other entry-level opportunities as an intern, working student and direct entrant.

All three of them have their own individual career paths in IT, which they are happy to share with you and are of course looking forward to your questions. #JoinTheTaste 🍕

Why should you join the live stream:

- You don't need an IT background
- We offer actual trainee vacancies
- You will get insider information about our international trainee program
- All participants will receive a small surprise after the event. 😊
